BIG MEN FOR BIG JOBS

The Republican backgrounds of Henry L. Stimson and Col. Frank Knox suggest their appointment to secretaryships of the war and navy departments may be a gesture of coalition by President Roosevelt. The possibility scares professional politicians silly.

At the same time the appointees' personal views about intervention are suggesting to some observers that the President is getting ready to lead the United States to war. This is frightening too, until it's remembered that this continues to be a representative government.

Two other things about Mr. Stimson and Col. Knox also must be taken into consideration. These are strictly non-frightening aspects.

One is that they are replacing two cabinet members who have been generally regarded as weak sisters. It has been taken for granted that Mr. Roosevelt appointed Charles Edison to the navy post to help him along in a political career in New Jersey. He succeeded the late Claude A. Swanson, whose health never permitted him to be active in the department's conduct. Harry Woodring similarly succeeded the late George H. Dern, who had not been a conspicuous figure in the President's official family. In other words, for the first time in Mr. Roosevelt's administration the national defense departments are to be headed by strong individuals.

That brings up the second point about Mr. Stimson and Col. Knox. Aside from political affiliation they are both well known and capable. Mr. Stimson is one of the country's few genuine statesmen, a source of much of its thought on international affairs and founder of the national policy of refusing recognition to states created by armed force. Col. Knox is a successful publicist, businessman and a former soldier. If there be such a thing as a coalition of strength, as distinguished from a coalition of politicians, President Roosevelt couldn't have chosen two likelier administrators for the vitally important war and navy departments.

The fact both men have positive beliefs may scare the wits out of some critics, but the general public will be inclined to mutter, "Tosh!" and continue to believe there is a place in government for men who know what they think. The other kind of official doesn't come through in the pinches.

That has been one of the failures of France and Great Britain.

THIS COULD BE DONE IMMEDIATELY

The ships, the guns, the planes, the tanks and the miscellaneous supplies which America needs to meet aggressors on equal terms will be ready tomorrow and the day after tomorrow. They can't be pulled out of a hat.

But the manpower to use them is already on hand, needing only classification and training to make it effectual. There is no need to wait for it to be developed; it is available on command.

Plans already in existence set forth in detail what would be done if the country went to war. Before the plans could get under way, however, available manpower would have to be registered and classified, a time-consuming task.

This could be done immediately. The desk work incidental to registration and classification could be cleared away in anticipation of a crisis, instead of waiting for a crisis to occur. It would have a tremendous psychological effect on possible aggressors.

It would have an equally strong effect in the United States. It would prove that this country isn't going at its defense project half-heartedly. It would clear the air and furnish a feeling of purpose for millions who are wondering what intensified national preparedness is going to mean to them.

The country would not be placed on a war footing but in a position from which it could move immediately to a war footing if necessary. It would be the same as holding a fire drill to familiarize those who would be affected by fire with the mechanics of their own safety.

Politicians naturally hesitate to take such a step lest they be accused of causing undue alarm. Such delicacy of feeling went out of date when the war began to unfold in Europe at the expense of populations whose security had been neglected out of considerations of political expediency. The idea no longer is to save the fortunes of politicians but to save countries.

THOUGHT FOR THE LONG PULL

Nazi Germany is the strongest military machine ever put together; its record of success in dominating all of the continent of Europe and part of Asia permits no doubt of its strength.

Against nations trained for peace and inadequately prepared for war, Nazi Germany has been insuperable. As long as it holds its lopsided advantage, the Hitler machine of conquest will be unstoppable.

The force that can stop the machine remains to be developed. Perhaps it will be developed in Great Britain, with the aid of the United States. The United States, sensibly preparing for the possibility of British defeat, is developing its own means of defense for any eventuality. Germany eventually will meet its match.

It is a thought for the long pull that the military state which Hitler has fabricated is adapted to nothing but the making of war. With no war to be fought Hitler's Germany would be as useless and helpless as a game cock with nothing to fight. Everything in the reich has been geared to military use; Hitler must find enemies to fight or be crushed by collapse of the war juggernaut he has built.

Hitler has not armed Germany for peace. Germany never has been armed for peace. It has perished by the sword it has lifted against mankind before and will perish again.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, June 23

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is read as a rather unprogressive and discouraging one unless the major activities be centered on group action and in promoting plans and projects for the common good. Otherwise there may be obstacles, disappointments and postponements, with elders and superiors rather inimical.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a rather routine year in which it may be difficult to make much progress. The most gratifying results will be attained in concerted effort with groups or bodies organized for the advancement of the social, spiritual and physical well-being of the community. Safeguard the health.

A child born on this day should be steady, quiet, persistent, probably disposed to be aloof and introspective, although having humane and sympathetic interest in organized bodies for general welfare.

For Monday, June 24

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for rather conflicting situations. While the mental faculties will be attuned to fresh ideas, innovations and all manner of adventurous schemes, yet these are under an adverse aspect, discouraging change, novelty and out-of-the-routine ambitions. It would be well in these circumstances to develop ideas, make plans and lay the ground for future constructive action. The young may find social or romantic compensations on this day.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which the mind is pitched to fine creative heights and ambitions in some out-of-the-ordinary field of endeavor. It will be inventive, scientific, prone to dig and delve in unknown pastures.

A child born on this day may be singularly talented, with yearnings to explore or create in some extraordinary realm. It should lean to the untamed, novel and unique, expressing in artistic, literary or modernistic forms, possibly attaining public renown in this direction.

"DESIGN FOR LIVING"

Tiny Glands Are Blamed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE CASE of the overweight child is essentially the same as that of the overweight adult. We said yesterday that in at least 90 per cent of cases, the individual over 40 who is overweight is that way because he eats too much and exercises too little (mostly because he eats too much). The overweight child is overweight because he eats too much also but there is another factor at work in 95 per cent of these cases, which is some disturbance of the activity of the ductless glands.

We all know these fatties. They are jolly, amusing little fellows. They are not only fat but they are rather physically disproportionate. The boys incline to be feminine.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

and the girls are super-feminine. These added characteristics indicate that the overweight is due to a disturbance of the ductless glands. Usually several are involved.

Guilty Glands

The pituitary gland, that wonderful little piece of flesh no bigger than the end of your little finger which lies in the skull and regulates so many of our personal traits, is one of them. The thyroid gland is usually also involved; at least these cases respond by reducing weight if thyroid extract is given. These two glands influence many other functions, through their action or "trophic" influence on other glands in the body. This is what produces the feminine characteristics in these children.

They do eat a lot. They seem to have a craving and a need for candy and sweets and it is very hard to keep these away from them, and they have an enormous capacity for storing sugar and starch, and they store it in the form of fat.

In treatment it is very hard to do much with them in the way of diet. They break over resistance. Their physical desires are greater than their will power in which they are not so very much different from their older colleagues in obesity) and endocrine treatment often works wonders with them.

Fine Recovery

Thus in a boy 9 years of age who weighed 156 pounds, treatment with pituitary extract and thyroid for four months resulted in a loss of 20 pounds, but this figure does not represent the real gain because he had gained in height 3 1/2 inches.

Such cases are quite typical of results that are being obtained by ductless gland extract treatment under carefully controlled conditions. Along with the decrease in weight and increase in height, many other physical characteristics improve under this treatment. It is well, if possible, to combine the treatment with dietary restrictions. This, as I said above is difficult but these children are sensitive to their overweight and if once they can be convinced that improvement is possible, they are willing to undergo considerable restriction in the matter of candy, sweets, ice cream, desserts and other concentrated fattening foods.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. M. M.—"Please recommend a good remedy for an itch in both ears. Also, what foods are excellent for building strong bones?"

Answer—Itch in the ear is usually due to an infection of some kind and the light application of mercuriochrome, or a very dilute tincture of iodine applied on a cotton swab gently so as not to touch the ear drum, should be done first. After doing this for a day or two, zinc oxide ointment saturated on a cotton pledget and gently placed in the ear. The best foods to build bones are those containing calcium and the most available are milk and the green vegetables.

M. L. H.—"Please advise me of a cure for an eyelid that itches at the edge. All the lashes come out and grow back wild and scratch the eyeball. Makes nucleus or thread-like scum on the eye."

Answer—This may be quite a serious condition and should be treated by an oculist. Your description is entirely accurate.

The eyelid is malformed so that the eyelashes grow crooked and scratch the eyeball, and this may cause ulceration. It cannot be treated by home remedies and you should have medical advice.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 233 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

A Good Time To Buy or Build

Now is the time when earnings and savings should be put into a permanent, tangible investment—an investment that will not be affected by the tides of war.

A home is such an investment. Stocks may fluctuate, bonds may default, but the home is always a shelter for the wife and children.

The more families there are that own their homes the better off our country will be. Free institutions were created by men who owned their homes—homes that in many instances were built by their own hands.

Home ownership is the greatest aid to patriotism. It is in love of home that love of country takes its rise.

"The word sin has been removed from the vocabulary of too many people. It seems to offend their delicate sensibility and so they get rid of it by throwing it overboard. Such action on the part of people does not change the truth of the situation. Sin is as real as the sun that rises in the morning. Sin is destructive to the best interests of people and nations. Sin is of the devil. Sin is contrary to the will of God and will bring punishment upon the sinner at the bar of God's judgment. No attempt of the world to minimize sin, changes its real character. Sin is of the devil."

Selah. There is a river, the stream whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the most High. God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God shall help her, and that right early. The heathen raged, the kingdom was moved; He uttered his voice, the earth melted. The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah. Come, behold the works of the Lord, what desolation he hath made in the earth. He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; He breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear in sunder. He burneth the chariot in the fire. Be still and know that I am God. The Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge."

"Real Sense of Sin" Sermon Subject At English Lutheran

"A Real Sense of Sin" is the subject of the sermon which Rev. George D. Keister will preach at the morning worship service of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church tomorrow, the fifth Sunday after Trinity.

Complete services for the church and announcements for the week are as follows:

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. (Malachi 3:7-18); Charles W. Youtz, superintendent.

"Honesty is the best policy, but too often it is interpreted as having only connection in the affairs of man. Some think only of honesty as it relates to our dealings with our fellowmen. People must exercise honesty toward God. Every person owes God more than he can ever repay Him. Thus God is deserving of our time, talent and treasure. The moral standards of people would not permit them to rob their fellow creatures. Yet they do not hesitate to rob God of his deserved offerings and tithes.

Morning worship, 11:00 Sermon, "A Real Sense of Sin."

Announcements

Rev. F. Linecomb of Gary, Ind., a member of the Free Methodist church will speak at 8 p. m. Monday in the church auditorium.

Members of the Elsie Matti Missionary circle will meet at Centennial park at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. A Wiener roast will follow the business session.

The annual Sunday school outing will be held Wednesday afternoon at Firestone park in Columbiana. A vesper service will be held in the evening.

Prayer service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Christian Science Society Services

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow.

The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WCLE 10 kil in Cleveland the first and third Sundays in each month at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 29 years is held at 9:30 a. m. A midweek service is held the first Wednesday in each month at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text is: "Lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth. The Lord The God of hosts, is his name." (Amos 4:13).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not." (Job 14:1, 2).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "2 epe and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Either Mind produces, or it is produced. If Mind is first, it cannot produce its opposite in quality and quantity, called matter. If matter is first, it cannot produce Mind. Like produces like. In natural history, the bird is not the product of a beast. In spiritual history, matter is not the progenitor of Mind."

This society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday.

The public is invited to attend all services and to visit the reading room.

She had just finished arranging the flowers in a low crystal bowl when the front door opened and she heard her mother speaking, though she didn't understand what she said.

"I'm home, parents!" she cried, bursting into the living room where she met them.

In a glance she saw how haggard her father looked, how worried her mother. She flung her arms around first one of them and then the other, kissing them as though she'd been gone a year.

"Here, here, Gaby!" her father expostulated, attempting to push her away. "I'm enjoying a terrible cold. Don't kiss me on the mouth!"

Helen said, almost testily: "He should be in bed this minute!"

"Then let's put him there," said Gabrielle. "What did Dr. Lee say?"

"Now, never mind talking that sickly talk," her father interrupted. "Let's have dinner, and celebrate the homecoming of our only child!"

"Well, Sam, I don't want to hear there's nothing I can do. I guess, after all, you're not a child. Sometimes I wish you were—then I could make you go to bed—forcibly, if necessary!"

"There's two of us now, Mother," Gabrielle exclaimed. "If you say the word I'll bundle him to bed, forcibly, you and I!"

"Here now," grinned her father. "That's a mutiny, young lady!"

All through the dinner Gabrielle wondered how she was to break the news of her trip to New York to her parents. They seemed so glad to have her home, and she knew they wouldn't welcome Peter coming back into her life again.

At last when they were all ensconced in the living room chairs, comfortable and well fed, she told them.

"But you're not really going, are you, Gabrielle?" Helen asked quietly.

"Yes, I am, Mother. You see, I'm still in love with Peter. Perhaps he isn't with me, but I'm going anyway. I'll find out for good and all if I have to live the rest of my life without him."

"Really, Gabrielle, I don't think that sounds at all ladylike," Helen said, her mouth drawing itself into a straight line of disapproval. "You didn't care enough for him before, so why should you want to go to him now?"

"I did care enough, Mother, but I didn't have sense enough to know it, and that's the truth. I was too selfish and spoiled."

"You won't go for a while, will you, Gaby?" asked Sam, his voice sounding tired.

"Well, I'd thought I'd go Wednesday morning, Daddy, or Tuesday night, depending on the connections. You see, the broadcast is Friday evening—I want to be sure and get there in time for that."

"Oh! Well, tomorrow's only Sunday. Let's not talk about it any more tonight," said Helen, staring at her husband with frowning intensity.

Gabrielle followed her glance and saw that her father was deathly pale. He was leaning back in the overstuffed chair, his head drawn back as though in pain, his eyes tightly closed.

"Daddy?" Gabrielle was on her feet and at his side at once. "What's the matter, Daddy?"

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

Gaby put the car in the garage, picked up the remaining boxes and carried them into the house. She found Odd, removed his harness and turned him loose in the back yard.

"I'm going up and shower, Violet. The roads were so dusty."

"Yes, ah bet dey was," agreed Violet, methodically cutting biscuits and laying them on a well-buttered baking sheet. She then turned them over and they gleamed like ivory poetry.

"Violet, what's wrong with Daddy?" demanded Gabrielle.

"Law, Miss Gabrielle, dat's what you mamma wants to fine out Dey went to the doctah cause he jus coughs and don't eat right, seems lak."

"Well, I'll be down in a few minutes and help you," said Gabrielle absently, and pushed against the swing door into the front hall.

She didn't see the puzzled look Violet gave her at this announcement.

As she showered she became more optimistic and found clean clothing a definite help toward a brighter outlook. She soliloquized philosophically that her father probably just had a cold. He was subject to them and they always made him feel horrid. By the time she had finished dressing she was in a cheerful mood once more and could again enjoy dreaming of Peter.

She returned to the kitchen and Violet by way of the dining room. Oh, she thought, it did seem good to be back home again! The table looked so pretty with the nice china and crystal and good silverware. It was fun at the cottage but this was better.

She noticed there was no centerpiece, so she went out into the kitchen and asked:

"Aren't there any flowers left, Violet?"

"Yes, but you mamma's been so worrit 'bout you papa dat she ain't brought in none."

"I'll go get some, if I can see. It's getting so dark, Violet. Surely they'll be here soon."

By the light from the porch she managed to gather a few chrysanthemums. There had been only a ghost of a frost but the lavender and white blossoms were fragrant and fresh. Odd came romping on and tried to tempt her into a game with the stick he carried in his mouth.

But Gabrielle was feeling worried again. Suppose something did happen to her father? She felt she couldn't stand it. He seemed more necessary than her mother, somehow. He was always there, he always had been, to take care of her, to smooth the way no matter how rough it became. She sighed, and whistled for Odd to come in with her.

She had just finished arranging the flowers in a low crystal bowl when the front door opened and she heard her mother speaking, though she didn't understand what she said.

"I'm home, parents!" she cried, bursting into the living room where she met them.

In a glance she saw how haggard her father looked, how worried her mother. She flung her arms around first one of them and then the other, kissing them as though she'd been gone a year.

"Here, here, Gaby!" her father expostulated, attempting to push her away. "I'm enjoying a terrible cold. Don't kiss me on the mouth!"

Helen said, almost testily: "He should be in bed this minute!"

"Then let's put him there," said Gabrielle. "What did Dr. Lee say?"

"Now, never mind talking that sickly talk," her father interrupted. "Let's have dinner, and celebrate the homecoming of our only child!"

"Well, Sam, I don't want to hear there's nothing I can do. I guess, after all, you're not a child. Sometimes I wish you were—then I could make you go to bed—forcibly, if necessary!"

"There's two of us now, Mother," Gabrielle exclaimed. "If you say the word I'll bundle him to bed, forcibly, you and I!"

"Here now," grinned her father. "That's a mutiny, young lady!"

All through the dinner Gabrielle wondered how she was to break the news of her trip to New York to her parents. They seemed so glad to have her home, and she knew they wouldn't welcome Peter coming back into her life again.

At last when they were all ensconced in the living room chairs, comfortable and well fed, she told them.

"But you're not really going, are you, Gabrielle?" Helen asked quietly.

"Yes, I am, Mother. You see, I'm still in love with Peter. Perhaps he isn't with me, but I'm going anyway. I'll find out for good and all if I have to live the rest of my life without him."

"Really, Gabrielle, I don't think that sounds at all ladylike," Helen said, her mouth drawing itself into a straight line of disapproval. "You didn't care enough for him before, so why should you want to go to him now?"

"I did care enough, Mother, but I didn't have sense enough to know it, and that's the truth. I was too selfish and spoiled."

"OLT HEROINE" SEEKS PAPERS

Mrs. Manciualea Recalls Adventures of World War Era

The night of Sept. 2-3 when the decision was made to cross the Olt. The army spread out into three divisions, planning to meet at Upper Venetia, the village where the river could be crossed. On arriving there we discovered that the right division had become lost. Through misfortune this division took its position in a wrong direction, coming to the River Crihanua where some of the troops were drowned and the commander killed by the Hungarians. Another part of this division withdrew, hiding until located by our division.

Reinited, the army started moving across the river at 2 a. m., taking the enemy completely by surprise and scoring a glorious victory.

This was as far as I knew the position of the river, and I thought my duty was done. My friend and I re-crossed the Olt, planning to go home, when Col. Alexandrescu of the Regiment "Muscel" No. 30 came after us, declaring that we must return because the entire Roumanian army wished to know the person who led them to victory. We were taken back to the village of Tichu where a public celebration was in our honor.

Returns Home
My friend and I were anxious to return to our homes, having made plans to go to Bucharest to join the Red Cross. But first my friend wanted to visit her sister in the village of Vladeni, so I returned home alone.

While waiting for her to come back from her visit, misfortune again came over part of our land as the Hungarian army regained lost ground, forcing the Roumanian army to retreat.

I was considered a spy by the Hungarians after they had been told that I had led the Roumanian troops across the Olt. Knowing the danger I was in, I did not dare stay at my own home, but remained hidden in the attics and cellars of some of my relatives.

Washingtonville Missionary Group Presents Program
WASHINGTONVILLE, June 22.—The Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church was entertained on Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Lizzie Tingle.

The president, Mrs. Russell Smith had charge of the devotionals and gave a review from the study book on "Independence." Tea was poured by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. John Q. E. picnic dinner will be served at the church at the July meeting.

Pythian Sisters Have Party
Ten tables were in play at the card party given by the Pythian Sisters on Tuesday evening. Prizes for bridge were won by Dallas Moore of Petersburg and Mrs. Merle Cuthbert of Leetonia; "500" prizes by Mrs. Dallas Moore of Petersburg and E. L. Girard, Washingtonville, euchre prizes by Mrs. Glen Jackson, Washingtonville, and Earl Cover of North Lima. Walter Smith received the door prize and Mrs. Carl Weikert, the prize cake. Lunch was served. Another party will be held in two weeks.

Court Martialled
I was court martialled, but they could not connect me with the pictures I denied everything, insisting that I had nothing to do with leading the Roumanian army across the Olt. However, they ordered me held in jail in Cluj for three months during which time they mistreated me in every way in an attempt to learn who led the army across the river.

Queen Marie's Palace
I was a Queen Marie's palace for four months before it was moved to Bucharest where, at the Palace Cotroceni in 1919, I was decorated with high honors by His Majesty King Ferdinand I.

Mrs. Manciualea came to the United States in 1920, making her home with a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Chrusa of Salem. She was married July 18, 1921, to the late Sam Manciualea of Salem, who was born in the native village of Parau, Roumania. Mr. Manciualea served with the Roumanian army during the World war, coming to the United States in 1921 and settling in Salem where he lived until his death Jan. 30, 1929.

As a reward for her acts of bravery in the war, Mrs. Manciualea was conferred the honor of "Military Virtue of War" by the Roumanian government through King Ferdinand I.

While making a visit to her homeland in 1938, Mrs. Manciualea was highly honored by the Rou-

She was also honored by the Association of Railroads of Roumania which presented her with a certificate permitting her to travel free on all the railroads in Roumania.

Mrs. Manciualea maintains a warm spot in her heart for her native land, but her loyalty is now devoted to a new, adopted country. She expects to receive her United States citizenship papers this year.

OUR READERS

MORE ON SKATING

On Tuesday the 18th there appeared an article concerning a petition against Salem skating because of excess noise and reports of a couple peeing at the rear of the building in the early hours of the morning.

If there are complaints to that effect, the petition against the noise around some of the spots some of our companions frequent? And as for peeing I have seen it. I have seen it in our dance halls and beer gardens, and I have heard some of our would-be fair citizens going down some of our main streets singing "Sweet Adeline" and trying to walk on the middle of 3 sidewalks long enough to make it home, spend a half hour finding the keyhole, then catch the bed on the fifth round, and heaven help the poor fellows that have to work around him morning after.

If peeing is not allowed then I'll get a petition against one of our leading restaurants because I saw two couples in a room peeing in front of the restaurant at 4 o'clock in the morning, and the noise from a group of boys loafing around the door could be heard four or five blocks away and when certain cars passed the horn would shriek a merry greeting.

I've heard they want to make them close the rink at 10 o'clock each evening. Well, if one of Eastern Ohio's finest and cleanest recreation spots must close one hour earlier then I propose our beer gardens, dance halls and pool-rooms (which usually are open much later) be made to follow suit, for I don't believe there is another rink in Ohio that operates from 7 to 10 and what about the percentage of the skaters that work in stores, etc., until 9 on Saturday night, it's no use for them to come down to skate the last half hour. But under the 10 o'clock plan the young folks could go to bed earlier and thus would not be able to see some of our honorable citizens coming in Sunday morning. (Perhaps they forgot they were young once).

However, I know the skaters are co-operating with the rink manager and leaving the rink more quietly and I am further confident that we have elected a office men who are thoughtful enough to see our side of the case and let the rink operate at the same time, for they have cut out midnight skating this summer and are closed two nights a week. That should be their share of cooperation.

I am hoping the rink operates through years to come for I would rather think my brothers and sisters were spending evenings there than loitering around a beer garden. And I am sure a high percentage of the parents in Salem agree with me.

CARROLL CLUB UPSETS CLASS A LOOP LEADER

Salem Recreation Drops To Third Position After Losing To Carrolls, 8-6

National Sanitary Moves Into Sole Possession Of Lead In Class A League; Saxons Top Martin Tires As Pauline Stars

The National Sanitary held sole possession of the lead in the first half race of the Class A Softball league today following the collapse of the Salem Recreation stars who were formerly tied for first place.

The Recreation suffered its first defeat of the season in one of two Class A games at Centennial park last evening, losing to an inspired Carroll Club team, 8 to 6.

The set-back dropped the Recreation out of a tie for first place into third position, leaving the Sanitary perched alone atop the league standings with five straight victories. The Leontina Merchants, who have won one more game than the Recreation, hold second place.

Meet Monday

Leontina is scheduled to clash with the Sanitary Monday, and the outcome of the game will probably play an important part in deciding the first half champion of the Class A race.

Playing air-tight ball behind the eight-hit pitching of Jimmy Kleon, the Carroll Club rightfully earned its upset victory over the Recreation.

The Carrolls trailed on the short end of a 3-1 score for three innings before jumping into a 6-3 lead with a five-run spurt in the fourth inning. They added two runs in the sixth to clinch the victory, although the Recreation threatened with one run in the sixth and two in the seventh.

The Carrolls hammered Pitcher Gene Pugh of the Recreation for 13 base knocks.

Pauline Checks Tires

Bill Pauline held the Mar-Tins to two hits as he pitched the Salem Saxons to a 4 to 1 victory in the other Class A game.

The Saxons collected six hits, scoring two runs in the third inning, one in the sixth and one in the seventh. Martin's lone run crossed the plate in the fourth frame.

The Emmanuel Lutherans and Young People's Catholic Club won free-scoring games in the Church league, the Emmanuel's topping the Christians, 13 to 11, and the Y. P. C. C. spanking the Trinity Lutherans, 16 to 4.

LEGIONNAIRES TO SEE FIGHT SHOW

Boxing Card Arranged For 10th District Convention

NEW PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—Joe Maxim of Cleveland, a middleweight and national A. A. U. champion, will headline a boxing card to be staged Friday night, July 12, during the tenth district convention of the American Legion.

Maxim's opponent will be Bobby Carlisle of New Philadelphia, state A. A. U. middleweight champ, who earlier this year competed in the national finals at Boston.

The semi-final bout will be between Raymond Grimm of New Philadelphia, state American Legion and A. A. U. welterweight champ, and Carmen Fredericks, Golden Gloves champion.

The boxing show will be but one of the many events which will entertain the Legionnaires before they take up the consideration of more serious affairs at their business session on July 14th.

The world situation is reflected in the intensity of Legion interest this year, and it is confidently expected that this convention will attract the largest attendance in the history of the district.

LAKERS ENGAGE AKRON CLUB IN BATTLE SUNDAY

Placencia Meets One Of Northeastern Ohio's Best Teams

Baseball fans of the Salem area will be offered an opportunity to see one of northeastern Ohio's leading semi-pro teams in action Sunday when the Akron Golden Age nine faces Lake Placencia at the lake diamond. Game time is 2:30 p. m.

Playing under the banner of the Akron Mayflowers last year, the Golden Age club won 49 of 62 games, capturing Akron's Class A championship and defeating all of the leading teams in northeastern Ohio. Placencia lost to the Akron team, 10-7, last year.

Beating 11 wins in 13 games this season, the Golden Age team leads the Northeastern Ohio league with five wins and two losses and ranks on top in the Akron Class A league with six straight victories.

Well-Balanced Team

Manager Larry Flynn, a former player with the Cleveland Indians, has put together a well-balanced team of capable fielders and power hitters. Several of the Golden Age players formerly performed with the Akron Atlantic Foundry, winner of the Ohio semi-pro championship for two straight years.

Flynn is expected to start either T. Boyce or Hildebrandt on the mound for Akron. Don "Lefty" Hammon, who pitched a one-hit game for Placencia last Sunday, will again be on the hill for the Lakers.

The Golden Age lineup includes: Arehart, ss; J. Ziroulo, lf; P. Ziroulo, 3b; A. Boyce, cf; Chadwick, 1b; Kunkle, rf; McMasters, 2b; Eustace, c.

Cleveland Indians Keep Quarrel In Family, Gang Up On Outside Invasion

Experts Expected Tribe To Fall Apart After Argument With Vitt, But They Continue On Warpath, Beating Red Sox, 7 to 4

By JUDSON BAILEY.

The Cleveland Indians are like a rowdy family that quarrels continually in its own circle but gangs up unanimously against every outsider.

Everybody in baseball expected the Tribe would come apart after the boys had their fuss with Manager Ossie Vitt. But they are still on the American league warpath today with six consecutive scalpings to their credit, including a 7-4 prize from the Boston Red Sox in the first game of their crucial series yesterday. This was the Indians' eighth triumph in nine games since the big blowup, and that kind of a record can't be called cracking.

The Indians won under pressure from the Red Sox. The Soxers suggested Lefty A. Milnar for ten hits, one of them a home run in the third inning by Ted Williams with two on and another Jimmie Fox's 17th home run in the eighth.

Keep Coming

But Cleveland, held to eight hits by Jack Wilson, kept coming and in the last of the eighth Roy (Beau) Bell hit a three-run homer that proved the margin of victory.

One of the season's starriest individual shows was a one-hit pitching performance by young Sid Hudson of the Washington Senators last night at St. Louis, where he ended the Browns' six-game winning string with a 1-0 shutout.

The 24-year-old righthander plucked from the Class D Florida State league last winter had won only three games and lost nine until last night. But Manager Bucky Harris had faith in him and Hudson more than justified it. The only safety he allowed was a double by Rip Redcliff.

The World Champion New York Yankees stopped their five-game skid to wallop the Detroit Tigers 12-7. Four Tiger pitchers could not

BRITISH GIVEN PLANES, SHIPS

Position, On Eve of German Assault, Appears Improved

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

England's position on the eve of the German assault appears considerably bettered, in view of the word received in authoritative quarters in Washington that Britain already has taken over most of the French navy—at matter of vast importance to the Allied cause.

If the British are able to keep their hands on it, irrespective of the Nazi armistice terms, this most certainly will have a vital bearing on the trend of this last phase of the blitzkrieg.

Must Depend on Navy

The point is that Britain must depend greatly on her naval arm to wage war against Germany. Possession of the French navy would give the Axis partners near parity with the British fleet (the world's largest), increasing the gravity of England's position.

It would appear from the Washington report that the British may not get much actual fighting value out of the fleet, because she cannot service the ships with munitions and spare parts (which largely differ from her own) without the French plants and machine-shops now in enemy hands.

However, that isn't what matters so much. Britain's main concern is to keep these warships out of Hitler's possession.

That gives Britain a naval superiority over both Italy and Germany of perhaps better than two to one in tonnage. This means that Italy must be the possibly not too comfortable standard bearer of the axis activities, since the German fleet has been heavily reduced by war operations.

Gets French Planes

A second slice of good fortune is understood to have fallen to England in the acquisition of a large number of French war-planes.

And how she is going to need them! Her first job is going to be to beat off Germany's superior air power, and those French planes are worth more than gold to her at this moment.

Only if Britain can withstand the furious bombardment from the air which undoubtedly will open the new German drive will she have a chance to defeat the Nazis. If England is able to shield herself from this blood-bath, then she will be able to utilize her navy in an effort to strangle both Germany and Italy by blockade.

Upon these two operations largely hangs the fate of Great Britain.

after Walsh (D-Mass.), who said he would "walk out of this chamber" if his resignation on the desk rather than vote for entry into a European war.

Behind the debate, the day recorded these other developments related to the defense program:

A joint house-senate conference committee agreed on a supplemental army-navy bill for $1,700,000,000 in appropriations and authorized the clearing the way for its enactment.

The navy department announced that the naval academy at Annapolis was shortening its course of study, as in World War days, to provide additional officers for the fleet. The class of 1941 will graduate four months ahead of schedule.

Loan for Minerals

The senate passed and sent to the house a measure directing $10,000,000 in government loans for developing deposits of strategic and critical minerals.

The senate also approved a proposal to impose restriction on the transfer of army and navy supplies to other nations. This would require the high commands to certify before the release of any material that it was "surplus" and not essential to defense needs.

A comprehensive draft bill, providing for the registration for military service of all men between 18 and 65, was introduced in the house by Rep. Wadsworth. Similar legislation was offered Thursday in the senate by Senator Burke (D-Neb.).
